

Call for Participation

Frankfurt Insurance Research Workshop

29/30 November 2018

International Center for Insurance Regulation
Goethe University
Frankfurt (Main), Germany

The International Center for Insurance Regulation at Goethe University Frankfurt will host a research workshop for doctoral students and post-doctoral researchers in the areas of insurance, risk management, or insurance regulation. Participants will have the opportunity to present work in progress as well as research ideas, and receive input from other students, post-docs and faculty. The aim is to create an open and informal atmosphere for the scientific exchange and the development of research ideas.

Furthermore, there will be a presentation and panel discussion about writing skills and the publication process together with Prof. Dr. Sebastian Ebert.

If you are interested in participating in the workshop, please submit a working paper draft, a research proposal, or a request for participation (without own presentation). We highly encourage submissions that provoke new currents of thought and discussion. Participation by interested faculty is very welcome.

Please send your submissions and requests for participation to Christian Kubitza at kubitza@finance.uni-frankfurt.de by September 30, 2018.

Looking forward to seeing you in Frankfurt,

Prof./Dr. Helmut Gründl
