6TH CONFERENCE ON GLOBAL INSURANCE SUPERVISION

Sustainable Insurance: Embracing Global Challenges Business Models. Protection Gaps. Systemic Risks. 4 and 5 September 2019 Goethe University Frankfurt am Main, Germany

ABOUT THE CONFERENCE

The International Center for Insurance Regulation (ICIR), the European Insurance and Occupational Pensions Authority (EIOPA), the Research Center SAFE (Sustainable Architecture for Finance in Europe), and the World Bank Group are organising the Conference on Global Insurance Supervision (GIS), which will take place on 4 and 5 September 2019 in Frankfurt am Main, Germany.

Top representatives from major (re)insurance groups, regulatory and supervisory authorities as well as renowned academics from around the globe will debate current and future key topics of international insurance supervision, focusing on global trends in risk-based supervision and the challenges linked to the implementation of global standards.

This year's GIS conference will explore key topics of sustainability from a European and international insurance supervision perspective.

TOPIC 1Sustainable Business Models for Insurers

Fair Competition in a Disruptive Environment

Since several years, new, agile and innovative firms are posing a challenge to current/traditional business models in the insurance sector. Entry barriers seem to be different depending on where in the value chain the service is provided; new entrants not always require an insurance license. However, boundaries continue to be blurred and the fragmentation of the value chain steadily advances with reversed outsourcing only being one of the latest developments. How will sustainability of insurance business models be impacted in the long-run and with which consequences for the roles of insurance for society? Furthermore, on the one hand, supervisors need to keep an eye on risks arising from innovative technologies, such as Big Data, Artificial Intelligence and Machine Learning, identifying, assessing and monitoring them. On the other hand, supervisors themselves are striving to make use of innovative technologies for their own data analytics and supervision. In the end, the right balance needs to be kept not to stifle innovation.

TOPIC 2

Closing the Protection Gap

The Leading Role of Insurance in the Area of Natural Catastrophes and Demographic Change

Insurers in their function to provide protection to citizens and consumers are confronted not only with an ever-changing risk landscape but also with changing consumer behavior and preferences. Insurance has an important function to help people and firms getting back into business after a disaster struck and major damages were caused. However, low insurance penetration, increasingly uninsurable high value exposures as well as underestimated or silent developments in risk profiles contribute to a widening protection gap. This not only refers to natural catastrophes but also to ageing populations. Climate change, scientific progress and increasing healthcare costs, to mention but a few, may exacerbate the protection gap. On the other hand, trends in sustainable finance and sustainability in general provide momentum for new products and innovative product development to cover the changing needs of emerging economies and the young generations around the globe.

TOPIC 3 Micro Meets Macro

A Holistic Framework for Systemic Risk in the Insurance Sector

Systemic risk, if undiscovered or underestimated, can provide for major turbulences on financial markets and jeopardise financial stability. Similar to emerging risks also systemic risks need to be identified, assessed, mitigated and monitored. Not only to avoid similar crisis situations as in the past but also to be prepared for future challenges. Therefore, a holistic framework needs to encompass not only a market-wide perspective but also an economic activity view with regards to individual firms. Macro-elements, together with micro-prudential ones are providing together for a robust framework, which then can be complemented by recovery and resolution schemes as well as insurance guarantee schemes as a last resort in a gone concern environment. Not only financial stability is in the focus of such macro regulatory activities but also individual consumer protection objectives, which sometimes may be in tension to each other. Overall, sustainable insurance businesses and markets support a sustainable economy and thus financial stability overall.
